THE TRAGEDY A GREAT SHOCK

Louisville, July 22—News reached this city last night of a horrible tragedy enacted late yesterday afternoon at Depoy, about seven miles from Madisonville, Ky. Mrs. Ellen Turley, with a pistol, shot and killed her four year old child, fired shots at her two older children and failing to shoot them turned the weapon upon herself and fired a bullet through her brain.

The meagre report received of the affair was to the effect that Mrs. Turley had not been well for several days and her husband had started to Greenville in the afternoon to secure medicine. As he left his wife asked him how long he would be absent. It was then late and he replied that it would possibly be late in the evening before he would return, but that would attend to what matters he had on hand as quickly as possible.

Soon after he departed the two older children went to the orchard not far away, leaving the third and youngest a little tot about four years old, with their mother. When they were gone, the mother, securing her husband's pistol and taking the little one along with her, went to a woodland nearby and shot the child to death, one bullet piercing its neck and the other the brain. The other children hearing the shots went to investigate them and found the mother coming away from where the unnatural and horrible deed had been committed.

She called them to her and kissed them both, but something about her manner caused the children to fear her, and espying the bloody form of the little one they scampered away from their mother in fright, she firing at them as they ran, but the shots failed to strike them.

The children hid themselves and say their mother returned to the house, but soon she went back to the body of the little one, then rigid and cold in death, and placing the muzzle of the revolver against her own head, sent a bullet whizzing through her brain. The mother and child will be buried in the same grave. The reason of the unfortunate woman must have been suddenly dethroned by some mysterious malady that caused her to commit the deed.

Robbins-Dorsey and Cook the Combination That Organized Today.

Congressman Charles K. Wheeler Was Presented with a Silver Service.

ADJOURNED UNTIL AFTERNOON

The Democratic convention [to nominate a candidate for the court of appeals from the First district did not get down to work this morning, but after an hour's session, characterized by the presentation to Congressman Charles K. Wheeler of a magnificent silver service from his constituents in the First congressional district.

The convention was organized by Robbins, Cook and Dorsey, with 129 votes, Robbins having 54, Cook 43 and Dorsey 32, Nunn and White offering no opposition. The Robbins delegation from McCracken was seated and will doubtless also be seated in permanent organization, as the combination will control the credentials. It is impossible to determine this afternoon who will be the nominee, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that it will be either Nunn or Cook. Lyon county, in one vote, broke away from Cook, and this was regarded as significant by many.

Various opinions could be heard among the politicians, but all seemed this afternoon to be in the dark. One prominent man from Frankfort said that so far as he could see, it is still anybody's race.

The preponderance of opinion, as between Cook, and Nunn, seems to be that Nunn will eventually defeat the combination. Others think that Cook will be unable to win, and that as soon as he is dropped, Nunn will easily win. Another theory is that the weaker candidates, when they are convinced they cannot win, will throw White enough votes to win.

It is reported that ten of the Henderson delegation are for White, and will vote for him in the windup. Another report is that the Lyon county delegation is likely to go for Nunn instead of Cook.

It is hardly likely that balloting will begin before late this afternoon.

MANY VISITORS PRESENT.

The city today is filled with delegates to the Democratic district appellate convention, to nominate a candidate for the court of appeals. The last of the delegates arrived this morning at 8 o'clock. They had been coming in since Sunday night, and before the hour for convening the business portion of the city presented a very lively appearance. The crowd arrived late at the park. Only a few were in the La Belle park pavilion at 10 o'clock the hour for calling the convention.

They were nearly all in, however, at 10:30. The pavilion was quite comfortably arranged. The speaker's stand is in the southeast corner, with the press desks to the left of the chairman. The delegates' chairs are ranged in order with placards showing the counties directly in front of the stand, while a rope divided the delegates' section from the spectators' seats. Outside, to the south, were benches for outsiders whom the seats inside would not accommodate.

The crowd was very large, all the available space in time being taken up. There were several ladies present, among them: Mrs. Charles K. Wheeler, Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. L. W. Boswell, and Misses Minnie Ratcliffe, and Cherie Morton and Great Excitement in Livingston County at Present.

Stones Discovered on the Springs Farm Near Hampton.

MAY PROVE VERY VALUABLE

Smithland, Ky., July 22—There is great excitement at Hampton, ten miles from this place, over the discovery of what is supposed to be diamonds. The stones were found on the farm of Sam Springs. Mr. Springs has sent specimens away to be tested. Should the stones prove to be similar even to the Hot Springs diamonds, the discovery will prove valuable.

This is about the most interesting discovery made in the county in some time. The mining resources are great, and large amounts of capital have been invested, while larger amounts are promised.

Several new railroads, small it is true, are projected, and there was never so much activity. Whatever the stone just discovered, it is likely to prove a source of wealth to the owner of the property, and for this reason a number of people are anxiously awaiting developments with a hope that a bonanza may have been found.

The result of the test is expected in a few days.

PLEASANT WEDDING.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG PEOPLE
MARRIED TODAY.

A surprise to even their most intimate friends, was the marriage of Mr. Arthur D. Ray to Miss Mary L. Burrell at the bride's home, 514 Trimble street at 4:30 o'clock today.

Only relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. Ray is the shipping clerk of the Kentucky and Tennessee Distilling Company, and is quite popular. The bride is the pretty and accomplished granddaughter of the late Mrs. Nancy Wagner.

The young couple have a host of friends to extend their congratulations.

Mr. Jeff J. Read has returned from Dixon.

Convene in Annual Session at Owensboro Today.

Colonel Breckinridge to Deliver the Annual Address at Session Tonight.

T. WATKINS NEW PRESIDENT

Owensboro, July 22—The Kentucky Press Association convened in this city today with one of the largest attendances in the history of the organization. Owensboro has made elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the delegates and their lady friends and the two days' stay will be most enjoyable.

Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge will deliver the annual address in the new Chautauqua building, one the handsomest structures of the kind in the country, tonight, and at 10 o'clock a banquet will be spread in Chautauqua park under a huge tent erected especially for the occasion. It is thought 10,000 people will be in attendance when Captain W. C. Ellis of the city arises to introduce Colonel Breckinridge. The banquet will only be attended by delegates and the invited guests.

Mr. Thomas G. Watkins will be elected president of the association next year. The program of entertainment is very extended.

GROCER ASSIGNS.

E. E. HARRIS NAMES J. W. DICKE AS ASSIGNEE.

E. E. Harris, the grocer at Sixth and Jackson streets, made an assignment this morning to J. W. Dicke. He states that he is unable to pay in full all his debts and assigns that the stock of groceries and his other property in the business might be sold and the proceeds of the sale equally divided among his creditors. Some of his creditors are Tobie Stegar, $75; Weeks and Co., $91.51; Cook Brewing Co., $75; Mrs. Dicke, $68; Thompson, Wilson and Co., $21.25.

Mr. John Nickells, of Davenport, Iowa, has returned home after a two week's visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Nickells on South Sixth street.

An Actor Suddenly Disappears From La Belle Park.

He Fell and Was Hurt, and No Trace Has Been Found of Him Today.

WAS A VERY PECULIAR MAN

Last night it was announced from the stage at La Belle park theater that Mr. James Brynes, one of the members of the Middleton Stock company, could not go on with his part on account of an accident. It seems that Mr. Brynes was in the habit of taking a dip in the lake just previous to "making up" each night and on this occasion had evidently slipped on the steps, and in falling received a severe blow on the head.

By some coincidence Mr. Kehoe, who has charge of the bath house, went there, evidently immediately after his fall and, finding him lying unconscious on the steps carried him into the bath house and summoned assistance. After some work he was revived, but was too ill to make his appearance on the stage.

After the performance he seemed to be all right again, and was left in his room, apparently completely recovered from any serious effects.

However, during the night fever must have set in and his mind have wandered, for this morning he was not in his room and the utmost searching could find no trace of him.

Brynes was a very peculiar man. Some weeks since he introduced himself to Manager Schaffer, however giving no information as to his past, and asked for work. There being at the time an opening, he was given a chance, and as his work proved very acceptable to the public he was retained as a permanent member of the company. No one knew anything of reality who he was, or where he came from, and he discouraged any inquiries. He was quite pleasant to every one, but spent most of his time alone, seeming to prefer solitude to any one's company. He was an actor of the old school, and had let drop facts that proved that he had been with many of the best companies traveling. He was a strict teetotaler, never drinking a drop of any liquor, was faithful and attentive in his work, and had no unpleasantness or trouble with any one since being at the park. It is believed that he was under an alias.

There is an enigma—who really is he, where did he go and why did he go?

SERIOUS CHARGE.

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING.

Tom J. Crowell, a young man from Rockport, Tenn., is in the lockup here on a serious charge, that of kidnapping, although he protests his innocence and says he can easily prove that he is not guilty.

Several days ago it was reported that the young man had kidnapped Elvora Goodman, a country girl of Camden, Benton county, Tenn., and had brought her to this city. Today the girl's mother arrived in search for her and located her at 219 Court street, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Tom Green, with whom she had been living since her arrival in Paducah.

The preliminary hearing will be held tomorrow morning before Special Police Judge Oscar Kahn.

The Money for Expenses During the Year Will be Short.

Owing to a Reduction of the Per Capita the Board Will Be Shy $1,000.

EXPECTED TO GET $14,000

The reduction in the school per capita announced by Superintendent McChesney, of Frankfort, will doubtless work quite a hardship on a great many, if not all, of the public schools in the state. Most of them have estimated the cost of support for the ensuing year, and appropriated amounts based on the estimated receipts. As a result they will get much less than expected, and just to what extent this will embarrass them depends on the amounts they expected to receive.

The Paducah schools will be short $1,000 and over. When the trustees began to compute the cost of running the schools this year, they based their estimates on what the receipts would be, and they counted in $14,000 or $15,000 to be received from the state, the per capita of $2.50 on 5600 pupils. It is now announced that the per capita will be only $2.32, eighteen cents less than was expected, and this will knock off a thousand or more dollars from the fund to be received by the Paducah schools from the state.

Whether or not the board of trustees will be able to economize sufficiently to meet the unexpected deficit is not known, but it has already contracted for over $10,000 worth of improvements, which will have to be made at all hazards.

It is likely, however, that the reduction will be so small, comparatively that it will make little or no difference.

ADJUDGED INSANE

LEE DILLWORTH TAKEN TO THE HOPKINSVILLE ASYLUM AT NOON.

Lee Dillworth of near Woodville was this morning tried for lunacy before County Judge Lightfoot and adjudged insane.

He was brought in yesterday but on account of much business in the court could not be tried until today. At noon he was taken to Hopkinsville to be placed in the asylum. This will be the second time he has been in the asylum. Dillworth's case is mild but several days ago he was seized with a sudden violent fit and secured a pistol, with which he threatened to shoot his father.

HURT ON HAND CAR.

TOM WHITE HAS A HIP BROKEN AT GRAND RIVERS.

Tom White, an employe of the I. O., was injured at Grand Rivers yesterday afternoon late and was brought to the city and taken to the railroad hospital last night, where his injuries were dressed.

White and several other laborers were riding on a hand car when he became overbalanced and fell off. The car could not be stopped soon enough and ran over him, breaking his right thigh. The injury was dressed by Drs. Cooley and Dillon. He is resting easy today.

TOOK $44.

YOUNG MEN ARRESTED AT METROPOLIS FOR LARCENY.

Otis Carver and E. I. Gray, of Carverville, Ill., were arrested at Metropolis for stealing $44 from J. E. Shepard, who had a refreshment stand at the carnival. Carver had been allowed to sleep on a counter at the stand, and knew that the money was in a trunk. When arrested he took the officers to where $23 had been hidden and then squealed on Gray. Both were held to answer in the sum of $200.

BUSY SESSION HELD

Council Last Night Transacted Considerable Business.

A Report on the Jefferson Street Improvement—The Compromise Tax Case.

THREE COUNCILMEN ABSENT

The council met in regular session last night with all present except Councilmen Brooks, Johnson and Jackson.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

The mayor stated that the city had a contract with the Western Union Telegraph Co., made in 1894, in which the company agreed to pay a tax of $1 per pole to the city. For the past several years the company has refused to pay this tax and the council ordered the city attorney to take such steps as necessary to enforce the fulfillment of the contract and to collect the back taxes.

The mayor was instructed to re-collect the sinking fund of $900, which is now loaned out at interest, and re-loan the same at the best interest that can be secured.

It was reported that there was a shortage of an average of three and a half feet of property in the Carnegie library site and it was moved that the city be credited with that amount in comparison with the price paid for the balance of the property. The shortage occurred in the manner in which the Episcopal church fence was built. There is five feet on the Court street side and two feet on the Broadway side short. The motion was carried.

The mayor read an agreement signed by Mr. W. F. Bradshaw in which he agrees to pay for the improvements, by paying to his property on West Broadway if the city will pay 50 cents per foot for the property. No agreement could be reached with the other property owners in that locality. The matter was referred to the joint street committee, mayor, city attorney and city engineer.

Councilman Fowler, chairman of the finance committee, presented a report of bills against the city amounting to a total of $3,023.94 which were allowed.

The ordinance regulating the market master's duties relative to the placing of coops, boxes and other similar articles that have been blocking the passages, was given its first reading.

An ordinance providing for the payment of the firemen and policemen semi-monthly instead of monthly, was given its first passage by a full vote.

A report of the fire committee on the hose matter set the date for receiving bids for hose at the 25th of the present month, in order to rush the matter through quickly and secure the hose.

Harrison and Flournoy, attorneys employed to revise the city ordinances, were given permission to take the ordinance books to their office.

A petition for the extension of water mains on South Sixth between Jones and Husbards, was referred.

Several deeds to lots in Oak Grove were ratified.

The motion to have the board of equalization make all their figures in the assessor's books in ink, instead of in pencil, as they have done, and to require them to make a full written report when requested by the council and the upper board, was adopted.

Will Lott, the colored barber, was refused liquor license at the old John Moore stand at Seventh and Adams streets.

City Engineer Washington reported that the costs for the improvements to Jefferson street would be in total $17,800.10 or $6.81 per lineal foot. This is for the best quality of street. Mr. E. P. Noble, representing the property owners of that section spoke and said that the price was too steep, as the property owners did not want so extensive improvements so soon. By motion the matter was referred with the orders to have the special committee draw up an ordinance in accordance with the property owners' views on the cost, etc.

The mayor then appointed L. A. Washington, the city engineer at a salary of $1,800 yearly and the appointment was ratified. In this instance, when it was asked if it was necessary that the mayor's appointment be ratified, city attorney stated positively that "it was not."

The bond of the newly appointed chief of police, James Collins, Messrs. Louis Kulp, Louis Clark and Mike Iseman, was ratified.

A change in the bond of Officers Potter and Gourieux was ordered made. They change a bondman, Mr. J. K. Bonds, who is a fire and police commissioner, to Louis Clark.

It was ordered that the extension of water mains in the cemetery be made. The condition of the concrete pavement in front of the Soule drug store, was reported in bad condition and investigation and remedy ordered.

The motion to have the car rails in Rowlandtown repaired and lowered, was referred.

The pay of the street laborers, those who labor on the street and who have been receiving $1.25 for their work, was ordered increased to $1.50 by motion of Councilman Hannan.

The investigation matter in regard to the city hospital was referred as Councilman Brooks, the chairman of the committee, was unable to attend the meeting.

Councilman Fowler read a letter from Mr. W. J. Harahan, of the I. C., saying that the matter of the leasing or purchase of the levee property was being pushed and that the city would soon hear favorably from the company, he thought.

A petition for the placing of a flagman at Eighth and Norton streets was referred.

The report of the committee to which was referred tax collections from the corporations was received. It recommended that the compromises which have been made for years, be binding and that no attempt to collect anything further be made. It was further ordered that the report be published for the benefit of the public.

An article from Health Officer Graves on sanitation and the condition of the supply of water, was referred until next meeting.

The matter to place Assistant Fire Chief Augustus, who is now unable to further attend to his duties, on the retired list at $40 per month was referred.

The hack muddle at the depot, taken to the courts several months ago, which was reported as remaining unsettled, was brought up and no action taken.

The motion to have a fire alarm box placed in the Little addition, the nearest being at Eleventh and Norton, was referred.

A petition for a street light on Meyers street was referred.

Mrs. F. Kiglesberger was granted the privilege to place a drain pipe in the gutter in front of her house on South Third street.

The council by motion adjourned.

THE PERFECT LIVER MEDICINE

Mrs. M. A. Jolley, Noble, O. T., writes: "I have used Herbine for a number of years, and can cheerfully recommend it as the most perfect liver medicine, and the greatest blood purifier. It is a medicine of positive merit, and fully accomplishes all that is claimed for it." Malaria cannot find lodgment in the system while the liver is in perfect order, for one of its functions is to prevent the absorption of fever producing poisons. Herbine is a most efficient liver regulator. 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

CAMPAIGN OF TEMPERANCE PEOPLE.

INAUGURATED WITH A GREAT MEETING AT FULTON.

Fulton, Ky., July 22—The second grand meeting of the temperance people was held here and all of the churches united to make it a success. The Rev. E. B. Ramsey, of the Methodist church; the Rev. E. M. Waits, of the Christian church; the Rev. Davis Turnley, of the Baptist church; the Rev. Messrs. Moore and Thomas of the Presbyterian churches, were all invited to take part in the services, with Rev. J. N. Hall as chief speaker. The campaign can now be claimed to be open. All odds seem in favor of Fulton becoming a dry town September 23, but both sides will bitterly contest the matter.

THE BOSS WORM MEDICINE.

H. P. Kampe, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child, which was sick, and threw up all food, could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

GUN CLUBS.

MR. WALTER WILKINS WON THE MEDAL YESTERDAY.

The Railroad Gun club held its regular shoot yesterday afternoon at its grounds here, and this afternoon the Paducah Gun club holds its meeting. Preparations are being made for the big tournament here, and every day letters are received from prospective contestants, all of whom are delighted with the outlook.

Mr. Walter Wilkins yesterday afternoon won the medal offered by the Brough Sporting Goods establishment in a fifteen bird match, breaking 12 at 17 yards.

REPULSIVE FEATURES.

Blackheads, pimples, greasy faces and muddy complexions, which are so common among women, especially girls at a certain age, destroying beauty, disfiguring and making repulsive features which would otherwise appear attractive and refined, indicate that the liver is out of order. An occasional dose of Herbine will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver and establish a clear, healthy complexion. 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

GIVEN SIXTY DAYS.

SPENCER GOODLOE PLEADED GUILTY TO STEALING FROM RUDY AND PHILLIPS.

Spencer Goodloe, colored, who was yesterday morning held over in the police court on a charge of stealing a quantity of goods from Rudy and Phillips, asked for a trial yesterday afternoon before County Judge Lightfoot, and it was given him. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

HUGE RATTLESNAKE.

Pilot Alex Evans, who is still in the service, piloted flatboats and coalboats to New Orleans in the 50s. Among the very few pilots living now who piloted "broadhorns" to New Orleans in the 40s and 50s and long before the days of towboats, Captain Patterson is still "at the wheel" and on a trip south, and Captain Ben Cox is living a retired life at his country home above Port Fulton.

It is reported that there will be a fine line of packets placed in the Memphis, Louisville and Cincinnati trade, says yesterday's Courier-Journal. The boats are all first class, the officers will be clever and competent men, and the managers will advertise the line liberally, treat passengers and shippers properly, and bring business and prosperity to the boats of the line. The river is there, the business is there, and the boats will soon be there.

Captain Sterling McIntyre, so long identified with the Memphis and New Orleans trade, and master of the steamer New South, is making his last trip for the company, as after the Sunshine returns from Memphis he will take charge of the steamer Savannah, which will run in the Tennessee river trade. Captain McIntyre is true to his name, and is a sterling good man, and will be missed among the many friends he has made along the lower Ohio and Mississippi river.—Courier-Journal.

Pilots of the different packets are receiving blank agreements from the Pilots' corporation of New Jersey, offering steady employment for five years at the regular rates when actively engaged. When they are not at work $25 a month is guaranteed. In return the pilots agree to work for only such masters as designated by the corporation. Many of the pilots do not look with favor at the proposals of the new association, as they say it would form a trust, placing the entire river traffic in the hands of the corporation. All the pilots would be in the employ of the corporation, they say, and the rates to masters could be greatly increased.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

NAT RILEY'S STOCK BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Mayfield, July 22—During the thunder storm Saturday night the stock barn of Nathan Riley, a prominent farmer living near Golo, was struck by lightning, caught fire and was burned to the ground. All of the farming implements were burned and also a lot of feed stuff. His loss will amount to about $500.

"A HELPING HAND."

IS GLADLY EXTENDED BY A PADUCAH CITIZEN.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Paducah prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

Mr. J. W. Hart, of 233 Jefferson street, proprietor of a boarding house near Central park, says: "I had attacks of kidney complaint for four or five years and every time I caught cold it settled in the loins and I suffered severely. When the spells were at their worst I could hardly stoop or bend. If I did stoop I was compelled to regain an erect position, very slowly. On such occasions trouble with the kidney secretions existed and when last annoyed I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised at Du Bois and Co.'s drug store and guaranteed to cure just such symptoms of kidney complaint mentioned above. Getting them and using as directed the result of the treatment was decidedly satisfactory."

SHOT FROM AMBUSH

WEALTHY KENTUCKY PLANTER 'KILLED' ON THE HIGHWAY.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 22—Frank White, a wealthy planter, residing south of here, was returning home from a picnic across in Tennessee in a buggy with his brother, John White, when he was shot in the side and fatally wounded. He lived only a few minutes after being laid on the ground. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that he came to his death by a shot fired by some unknown person. He had for years been one of the parties to a bitter neighborhood feud.

John White, who is said to have been drinking, claimed his brother was fired upon from ambush and that he made an effort to kill John Knight, a boy whom he accused of the crime. Knight established an alibi. The dead man's coat was burned by powder, and the ball entered his left side, ranging upward through the heart. It is believed by some that John White accidentally killed his brother.

RAILROAD MEN ORGANIZE.

OVER ONE THOUSAND CHARTER MEMBERS ENROLLED.

Louisville Ky., July 22—A division of the United order of railway employees was organized in this city with 1010 charter members. The order, which has a membership of 147,000 in the United States, comprises the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, switchmen, telegraphers, agents and clerks, carmen, shopmen, freight handlers, bridgemen and trackmen, and has its headquarters in San Francisco. The local branch was organized by F. W. Forsting and J. P. Milligan of California, vice presidents for this district.

E. P. Baker, Esq., of South Fulton is ill with malarial fever.

SET FOR TOMORROW.

The case against Contractor Tenagus, for the obstruction of the Mayfield and Metropolis road by driving piling in the road to bridge the I. C. Cairo branch, will be tried tomorrow before Justice Barber. This will make the second time the contractors have been warranted for the same offense, the other case being for the obstruction of the Woodville and Paducah roads.

SUPERVISOR JOHNSON HURT.

County Road Supervisor Bert Johnson is disabled from bruises received by a fall from his bicycle near the Clark's River section. He was coasting down a hill at a rapid speed when he saw a gully that had been washed across the road. He attempted to avoid it, but in doing so dashed into a tree stump and was thrown violently, but fortunately escaped with no broken bones.

CURES SCIATICA.

Rev. W. L. Riley, L.L.D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After 15 days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, the first application giving my first relief, and the second, entire relief. DAILY THOUGHT.

There are two things which bring out into activity the powers that lie hid in man. The one is the great force of will which makes a man independent of external stimulus. The other is the tax which is laid upon him by duty and responsibility.

—Cardinal Manning.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with slowly rising temperature.

§ The world seems to be getting its share of trouble of late from storm, flood, fire and earthquake.

Councilman Fowler wants the other 831 cows impounded. The cow man has caught the large sum of half a dozen or thereabout since he was employed.

American securities are the only bright spot in foreign markets, which seem to be getting duller and duller every day. Most everything American looks bright in Europe these days.

The railroad news of the country seems to consist just now of rumors of absorptions, sell-outs and purchases.
They are exploited in all their details one day and denied with indisputable authority the next.

It is announced that Mr. Bryan will not be a candidate for president on the platform of his new party. What platform does he expect to be on then?
It is evident that he can't be a candidate on the platform of any other party.

Mr. W. J. Bryan is still talking with undiminished vigor. He stopped over in Chicago the other day long enough to say that the money issue was not dead, which indicates that either he is foolish or thinks other people are.

It appears that it makes no difference whether the taxpayers want two men to do the work formerly done by one, and draw double pay for it, or not. This administration is being run for the benefit of the gang and not the taxpayers.

If it is possible for the city to retire
any man on a pension Assistant Fire Chief Augustus is as deserving as any man could be. He has given the best years of his life to the city, and is now, on account of ailments resulting from the discharge of his duty, unable to properly perform his duties.

John W. Mackey, the last of the "bonanza kings," died in London after a brief illness. His home was in San Francisco, and he had enjoyed one of the most interesting careers on record. He was reputed to be a very wealthy man, but like many others had almost expatriated himself from his native country.

Indiana Republicans are pushing forward Senator Fairbanks for president in case President Roosevelt is opposed in 1904. While a stitch in time is often well, in this case the trouble is hardly worth while. President Roosevelt will have no trouble in securing the indorsement of the Republicans almost as a unit.

It remains to be seen what is to be done by the city in regard to the bad condition of the concrete sidewalks on Broadway. Formal complaint has been made "to the council, but it is doubtful if the members will venture to offend their hard working city clerk by asking him to comply with his contract and keep his work in repair.

By one of those curious slips The Sun's telegraph dispatches were made to say yesterday that Senator Fairbanks was being boomed by Indiana
"Democrats" for president in 1904.
The error was clear. Senator Fairbanks is too prominent a Republican to ever be looked on with favor by the Democrats. Besides, there are practically no Democrats in Indiana.

The soft coal miners will not strike,
but it is the determination of the hard coal miners, it appears, to carry out the anthracite strike to the bitter end. This may be right, or it may be wrong, but it will nevertheless impose a hardship on all concerned, with the almost absolute certainty of being lost by the strikers in the end. The operators will lose less than anyone.
The bulk of the suffering will be on the women and children and the consumer of the coal, none of which is in the least responsible for the dispute between operators and miners.

President Palma is quoted as declaring that annexation is not the only way to save Cuba. He has hopes that the country will pull through the present crisis, but if it does the people will have to get a move on and not whine for the United States to injure their own industries to enable those of Cuba to come on our market and compete with ours. It is commendable in President Palma to have hopes for his country, but Cuba will never amount to anything as long as it is run by the Cubans. The United States must either become a wet nurse or adopt the infant outright.

It seems that the Bryan crowd has adopted the rule or ruin plan. Having satisfied himself from the freely expressed sentiment throughout the country that the party will no longer be led by a political nonentity, Bryan has seemingly inspired the new party idea, and will take those decided enough to go with him and have a party of his own. This is one of the greatest signs of his own weakness. The Democratic party, united, could never defeat
the Republican party, and the further apart the Democratic leaders get the weaker will be the opposition to the Republican party. The people want a party of stability, of sound, sensible principles, and they have it in the Republican party, and the Republican party only.

The Metropolis papers resent the statement that the Paducah boys did not get a fair deal in the fire department contest. They claim that it was all fair. So it was so far as the officials are concerned, but when the Metropolis firemen stopped and jumped to attach the hose one or two fell, and were assisted to their feet by sympathetic bystanders, which enabled them to gain time. When the Paducah boys drove up and one fell, no one assisted him. If someone had, and there might have been no objection to it if anyone had happened to be there to assist, he would not have lost so much time, and the result of the contest might have been entirely changed.

The whole thing depended on a few seconds of time, and these seconds might have been saved if the Paducah fireman had been given as much assistance when he fell as the ones
of the Metropolis department.

While there is a difference of opinion regarding the policy of Gen. Jake Smith in the Philippines when, after a fair trial, he decided that drastic means were the only ones that could possibly prove effective in dealing with the treacherous Filipinos, and gave what has since become known in the newspaper annals of the country as the "kill and burn" order, it is likely that President Roosevelt's order retiring
Gen. Smith cannot be questioned.
Some of the newspapers claim under flaming headlines that the president exceeded his authority, as he is permitted only to mitigate the sentence of a court martial, and not to increase its severity. Their position is that he retired Gen. Smith in order to make the findings of the court martial more severe. The error of this is very apparent after a moment's consideration.
The court martial ordered that Gen Smith be reprimanded. This was done, and was the extent of the finding. The president has no authority to retire an officer without a court martial, except on account of age, hence he did not retire Gen. Smith as an addition to the verdict of the court martial, for he could not legally do so, and it is presumed President Roosevelt knows what he is doing. The only other reason that could be advanced, therefore, is that he retired Gen. Smith on account of age, and if he did this it was not necessarily a part of the sentence of the court martial, and not to add to its severity.

TO BUY HOSE.

COMMITTEE THIS MORNING
AUTHORIZES PURCHASE.

The fire committee met this morning and instructed the mayor to order immediately 1,000 feet of fire hose from the Day Rubber Co. of St. Louis, which was done.

The hose was ordered through Mr.
Will Cochran. This is an order to cover pressing needs only. The hose had to be gotten, as the present supply is insufficient. The mayor telegraphed away early this morning and instructed the hose firm to rush the order.
This will be included in the bids for the big hose contract to be let on the 35th.

THE SPECIAL MAYFIELD OFFI-CER MAKES HIS FIRST

Mayfield, Ky., July 22—Mayor Watts and Chief McNutt have been given authority to appoint officers to accompany the Sunday trains to and from Paducah. Will Waldrop and Chief McNutt did the work on Sunday's train. There was a large crowd on all trains and everybody very quiet and peaceable. Officer Waldrop went as far as Eddyville and attended the big camp meeting while there.

MR. WM GARDNER.

Aged and Respected Citizen of Calloway Dead.

Interment in Calloway County Yesterday at the Gardner Cemetery.

Mr. William Gardner of Calloway county died Saturday of general debility and was yesterday buried at the Gardner cemetery in Calloway county.

He was born in Rowan county,
North Carolina, on November 28, 1804, and had been living in Kentucky since he was 13 years of age. He leaves the following children: F. N.
Gardner, Sr., of the city and Mrs.
Bradon and Mrs. Williams of Calloway county. He was 98 years of age at his death, and was one of the oldest men in Kentucky. He was highly respected in his home county and his funeral was attended by over 1,000 people.

IN SESSION.

CONVENTION OF THE COLORED
CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Over a hundred delegates arrived
last evening to attend the convention of the colored Christian church, which is in session at the Trimble-street
Christian church.

The Sunday school department was taken up this morning. D. J. Bonner, of Louisville, is president and Miss Mattie Freeman, of Paris, is secretary. The welcome address was delivered in a pleasing manner by Mrs.
R. E. Pearson and responded to by Dr.
M. F. Robinson, of Louisville. The morning session was largely taken up by a discussion of the report of the business committee. Several visitors were introduced and responded in a happy strain.

This afternoon the "Report of the Sunday School Evangelist," "What constitutes a successful Sunday School, its Cause," are among the subjects, together with committee reports taken up. The session was largely attended by visitors as well as delegates and Rev. Pearson, the local pastor, is sparing no pains or labor to make it pleasant for all while here.
The convention of the church proper begins Wednesday morning. Rev. G.
H. Graham is president of this department.

Mme. Patti's Parrots.

The parrots belonging to Mme. Patti are a source of constant amusement to everyone near them, and there could not be a greater contrast, for, while one talks and sings all day long, imitating its mistress' trills in a weird, thin voice, the other is constantly silent. The former only cost $105, and the latter $1,000, for he was represented to be the finest talking parrot alive.

Class Leader Many Years.

William M. Baker of Fortville, Ind., has been class leader in the Methodist Episcopal church there for forty-three successive years. At the organization of the class he had thirty-seven members, only four of whom survive. Now he has a class of 250. Mr. Baker was born in Weston, Va., sixty-five years ago, and has been in Fortville since 1855.

P. P. C.

They do say there are some women who are expert at ping pong, but yet
do not shine when it comes to observing social amenities. In proof of this,
a story is going the rounds of one such who had a "p. p. c." card from a friend better versed in "matters of etiquette. Whereupon the ping pong player waxed wroth, as she believed her friend had taken this way to sign herself "ping pong champion."

Automoblian Industry.

Automobliism, directly or indirectly maintains more people in France than any other industry. All the factories have tripled their output during the last three years, and manufacturers formerly making cycles now produce automobiles. At first Paris was the only city where automobiles were made, but now Lyons, Bordeaux, Marseilles, Lille, St. Etienne, Nantes, and Rouen have factories to supply local demands, says Cassier's Magazine. By reckoning all the workmen in the various branches that are benefited by the automobile industry, a total is obtained of nearly 200,000 persons dependent upon it.

Cat Was Only Drunk.

A pastry cook in the Avenue Gambetta, Paris, who was troubled with rats, borrowed a large Angora cat and left it in his shop while he went upstairs to dinner.

An hour later he heard terrible cries proceeding from below, and on going down found the cat bounding up and down in a most peculiar manner.
Thinking the animal mad, he called in a policeman, who shot it with his revolver.

A veterinary surgeon who examined
the body stated, however, that the cat was not mad, but drunk, having consumed a large dish of sweet "babas" steeped in rum.—London Express.

Rescued by a Balloon.

When Brehm, the German naturalist, was in Abyssinia, he and his party
one day fell in with a band of baboons in a valley. The apes retired before the travelers; all save a poor, sickly creature, which sat on a rock and howled in fear and trembling. The visitors' dogs made a rush for the spot, but before they could reach it an old baboon darted down the hillside, picked up its young and poorly comrade from under the very noses of the dogs (which scattered forthwith rather than tackle the new-comer), and carried it off amidst fierce barks of victory and derision.

Telling the Bees.

The curious custom of "telling the bees" is observed in some parts of nearly every country in the world.
Those who observe the custom always go to the beehives and tap gently on each one, then stoop and whisper
under the cap or lid that Mary, Jane, Thomas or William is dead. This is done to keep the little honey makers
from forsaking their place of abode should they have to wait and find out
the news of the calamity themselves.
The custom is alluded to in Whittier's poem "Telling the Bees."

Slavery in China.

China is the great slave country of the world. Of a population of 400,000,- 000 there are slaves to the number of 10,000,000. Every family of means keeps his girl slaves, and a man's position is usually gauged by the number he keeps. At any age from 3 to 15 girls are sold, 7 or 8 being the age at which most change hands. The girls are purchased to do housework,
it being cheaper to buy than to hire.
Slaves vary in price: $10 is about the average, but much depends upon the girl's appearance. A good-looking girl will fetch $20 or even $40.

Humane Work in Porto Rico.

One of the natural results of the introduction of American authority in Porto Rico appears in an active movement for the prevention of cruelty to animals. In San Juan, Ponce and smaller communities the beating of horses has been vigorously discouraged, and the last measure enacted at the recent session of the legislative assembly was an act to prohibit cock fighting.

Vagaries of Our Language.

In a book which has just been published on that never-failing topic, the vagaries of the English language, the strange meaning of the word "pocket handkerchief" is described. A "kerchief" (couvrechef) means a small piece of cloth made to put on the head,
so that a "pocket handkerchief" means literally a small piece of cloth to cover the head to be held in the hand to be put in the pocket.—London Globe.

Adam's Other Name.

Lord Chesterfield, when tracing the source of his family one day kept on up the centuries without a pause, until finally he said, with an air of entire seriousness: "Adam de Stanhope —Eve de Stanhope." Stanhope was his family name.

LOCAL LINES.

Cost you 8 cents per line.

Beit has plenty hickory wood at 1230 South Third Street. Mail orders.

It is expected that the deferred meeting of the Commercial club will be held tomorrow night.

There will be a grand opening Wednesday night, July 23, at Bud Quarles' hotel and saloon at the I. C. depot. Plenty of refreshments and good music. Everybody come.

Rubie Wilkins, the 17 months old child of Mr. R. F. Wilkins of Hayes avenue, died of malarial fever this morning and will be buried at Oak Grove tomorrow.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Dougan will take place from the family residence, 625 South Third street, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon; interment at Oak Grove.

Messrs. Jos. L. Friedman, George C. Wallace, Ed Woolfolk and W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., will leave tomorrow for a trip to Crittenden county to look over some mining properties in which they are interested.

Contractor F. W. Katterjohn has gone to Bolivar, Tenn., where he has men at work on the Illinois Central putting concrete under a bridge, a class of improvement that is quite extensive on the Illinois Central.

The examining trial of the two negroes who shot Conductor James Arnold last week will not be held until Conductor Arnold feels able to attend court. The negroes have been taken to Ripley, Tenn., where the trial will be held. Feeling was high against the men when they were identified by Engineer Armstrong and there was talk of lynching, but nothing resulted from the talk.

WITH THE SICK.

Mrs. L. G. Orme is better today and will soon be out again.

Dr. J. G. Brooks continues to improve and was at his office again today.

Mr. J. Henry Orme, who has been ill for the past week, suffering from rheumatism, is better today.

Mrs. F. G. Mertz of St. Louis, who was called here by the illness of her daughter, who was hurt in a street car accident, is quite ill at the home of Mr. F. Kamleiter.

Colonel James Thompson is much improved today and better than he has been since he was first taken ill. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he is fast recovering.

WHEEL STILL MISSING.

Mr. Dan McFadden has never recovered his Cleveland wheel stolen last Saturday night during the rain storm. The wheel was taken from the Whitefield residence and it makes the second wheel that Mr. McFadden has had stolen from him within the past two years. The police are working on the case but no clue is reported. There are several boys in the city who make a practice of taking wheels and riding them for several hours. After they have finished their sport they would leave the wheel in a place where it would be easily found, but in Mr. McFadden's case it is a plain case of theft.

PAINFULLY HURT.

Master Leo Rapp, the 13 year old son of Mr. Louis Rapp, of Trimble street, fell from a fence yesterday afternoon late and fractured an arm. He was playing with several companions and in attempting to jump the fence fell. His left arm was caught under him in the fall and both bones in the left forearm were badly fractured. Dr. J. T. Reddick dressed the injury.

Mr. E. E. Reed of Clinton arrived in the city at noon today. He is visiting Mrs. Settle of Fifth and Madison streets.

Miss Grace Rossiter, of Mattoon, Ill., has returned from Dresden, Tenn., and is again a guest of her sister, Mrs. John Little.

Train Dispatcher North of Louisville, who has been spending a vacation in Wisconsin, passed through the city this morning en route to Louisville to again resume his duties at the key.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilber T. Steele of Waukon are visiting relatives and friends of both parties in Arkansas and other states, from which they go to the western states before returning home.

Miss Elizabeth Morgan, the dress-maker at L. B. Ogilvie and Co., went east at noon today to buy her fall stock of goods and get in with the latest fashions. She will return the second week in September.

A CHARMING EVENING

ON THE RIVER.

The outing and dance on the steamer Bettie Owen last evening given by the young ladies was a most delightful affair. The attendance was quite large and the beauty of the night added to the other pleasures enjoyed. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

The young ladies not only proved themselves charming hostesses, but clever financiers as well, for after meeting all expenses this morning they had a nice sum left over, which, with characteristic thought for others, they

at once invested in a pretty chair for the Home of the Friendless, thus letting their pleasure create pleasure for others.

UNDER FALSE PRETENSES.

J. M. HOFFMAN ALLEGED TO HAVE SO OBTAINED A STORE.

J. M. Hoffman, the Court street grocer, was this afternoon warranted for obtaining a stock of groceries under false pretenses.

The warrant was issued by Special Police Judge Oscar Kahn at the instance of Mr. H. F. Roberts, who sold him the grocery store which is located on lower Court street near Second. The warrant charges that the defendant secured the stock by partial payments and said that he would pay the remaining balance when he sold a saw mill in Massac county, Ill., which he claimed he owned. It further alleges that he does not own the mill and made a false statement when he promised to settle in this manner. The warrant will be served this afternoon and is now in the hands of Officer Joe Woods.

WRONG CHECK.

DARKEY GETS MR. MIKE NICHOLS PAY CHECK IN ERROR.

Yesterday when the pay car arrived Mr. Mike Nichols, one of the assistant yard foremen, found that he did not have so much coming to him as he thought.

He presented his claim and was told that a colored man had just drawn his pay. It seems that a colored section hand by the name of Nichols had impersonated the section boss and secured his check which was twice as large as the amount coming to him, the colored laborer. Mr. Nichols had to take the negro's check and then find the negro to arrange the matter. He secured nearly all his money but is still minus about $12 as a result of the affair.

POLICE COURT.

Jim Parker, colored, was arrested this morning by Officers Harlan and Woods on a breach of the peace and drunk and disorderly charge. Parker had on a good sized jag and was not close in letting people know about it. He insisted on swearing and raising a disturbance on Broadway and would not get off the streets when ordered to do so by the officers. He will be given a hearing tomorrow morning before Special Judge Oscar Kahn.

Les Purdy, white, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Ben Smith, colored, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Mabelle Hudson, colored, was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly.

Chas. Street, colored, was fined $5 and costs for cruelty to animals. He put "dedim" on a dog which had gotten into the Sleeth drug store and would not go out.

The breach of the peace case against Ben Davis and J. E. Schaurer, white, for fighting, was left open until tomorrow.

Donie Jones, colored, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail for drunkenness.

MR. THOMAS KILCOYNE'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas Kilcoyne was held this morning at the Catholic church at 9 o'clock; interment at the Catholic cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by friends of the deceased who desired to pay their last respects.

LEG BROKEN BY A FALL.

Mrs. Dump Oakes, wife of the former marshal of Metropolis who was killed several months ago, is laid up at the Commercial hotel with a broken leg, sustained by jumping across a gully at the foot of Clay street. Her foot turned with her and broke two bones near the ankle.

First Rhine Steamer.

The first steamer on the Rhine—a Dutch one—was in 1822, fifteen years after Fulton had started a steamer service on the Hudson.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

"Nature's Nobleman" as produced at La Belle park theater last night by the Middleton Stock company proved to be one of the most attractive bills so far presented in Paducah. An unfortunate accident to Mr. James Byrnes prevented his appearing, and the parts he was to have assumed were read by Mr. Robert Middleton, but nevertheless the play proceeded without a hitch, and received the greatest amount of applause that any production at this theater this season has received. A pleasing point was the fact that the ladies of the company all had attractive parts—they looked beautiful and were most elegantly gown.

Mr. Chris McMahon, the local double bass player, joined the La Belle theater orchestra last night and was a material improvement to the excellent music heard there.

FINISH IN LOUISVILLE.

Dr. L. Edwin Young, who is now in the office of Dr. Frank Boyd, has made arrangements to attend the Louisville school of medicine instead of the Vanderbilt university in Nashville. Dr. Young has only one more year to attend school and will then be a full fledged physician. He will have a room in the Louisville city hospital and will have all the benefits and advantages of the operations and cases treated in that hospital.

POETIC REFLECTIONS.

The Flower Mission.

Into the homes of sorrow and distress
Let us send flowers, sweet flowers to bud and bloom.
And in their own sweet way make glad awhile.
Sad lives which wither in perpetual gloom.
Poor hearts that sigh and starve for lack of love.
Dim eyes which ne'er behold a beautiful thing.
And tired hands that stretch and reach in vain.
For joys which ever from their grasp take wing—
To these the flowers on their mission go,
And breathe a fragrance fraught with new, glad life.
And cause an atmosphere of joy and peace
To enter e'en 'mid scenes of pain and strife.

A thousand blessings on the kindly hands
Which pluck the fragrant blossoms for our poor!
A thousand blessings on the kindly feet
Which falter not, but go from door to door.

And leave the gifts which speak of kind hearts true,
And seem to say, "cheer up! the thorns abound."
Yet there are flowers of love which bloom
"for you!"
—Mary D. Brine, in Christian Work.

An Effort at Philosophy.

I'm not hanging round with a word of compliment.
'Cause maybe things might have been worse.
I'm not finding fault with what is and what ain't.
'Cause maybe things might have been
worse.

There's fever, an' ague, an' rheumatism, too,
An' there's bunc an' greengoods an' swim-dies more new.
An' I've gone right ahead—learn't 'em all through an' through;
But maybe things might have been worse.

The climate's a misfit, how'er it may change.
But maybe it might have been worse;
And 'lucky always strikes a bit out of my range.

But maybe it might have been worse.

An' sometimes I look at the stars shinin'
fair.

An' wish I had lit on a planet up there;
But, on second reflection, I don't so much care.
'Cause maybe it might have been worse.
—Washington Star.

Tree-Top Mornings.

How I like the tree-top mornings in the early, early spring!
There's a steady sound of roaring.
Like a score of rivers pouring.
Or a hundred giants snoring.
Or a thousand birds up-soaring.
There's a rattle as of battle and a sort of splendid swaying.
Of the branches and the curtains and almost of everything.
Oh, I love the tree-top mornings in the
early, early spring!

Oh, what fun on tree-top mornings in the
early, early spring.
When the wind is loud as thunder,
And it snaps the boughs around,
And it lifts you up from under,
Just to roll along and wonder At the hurry and the scurry that such windy mornings bring.

At the flapping and the slapping of the clothes line on the wing!
Oh, I love the tree-top mornings in the
early, early spring!
—Eldredge Wetherald, in Youth's Companion.

To the Husbandman.

All honor to the hand that holds the plow,
"Embrowned and large and horned tho'
it be,
Its joints stiff with years of heavy toil
In bringing forth the earth's fecundity.
Unshapely, you may say, unsightly, too,
And yet in calloused palm and furrowed lie
The record God has made of duty done—
The lines of honest toil that beautify.

Obedient to this touch the fields abound
With riches greater far than Ophir's
hoard,
Before this hand the ripened grain fields
bow.

And yield their golden store unto their lord.
So honor ye the hand that holds the plow—
The hand that labors long to gain the poll.

Which satisfies the daily wants of those Who eat the farmer's fruit, yet scorn his toil.
—Charles Denys Connell, in Country Gentleman.

April Magic.

Flute-like across the morning mist
A lyric note comes quivering
From April's young ventriloquist
To welcome Spring.

Look where you will you shall not see
This small magician as he weaves
Spells of sweet music while the tree
Dreams of green leaves.

Now here, now there, now gone, alas!
But just as you would call him cheat
You glimpse the first brave blade of grass Close at your feet.

And when the gray yields to the blue,
And tempts one more his odyssey clear,
Behold a crocus!—taken true
That Spring is here.
—Frank Dempster Sherman, in Woman's Home Companion.

Wandering Little Feet.

The pitter-pat of little feet,
Is very nice indeed,
And keeps these grown-up hearts of ours
From going quite to seed.

There is no music in the world
That one would rather choose;
But, goodness, how it takes the cast!
To buy the darlings shoes.

The pitter-pat of little feet
Is sweet in every way,
But then you know the time is short
They make their music gay.

And if by chance it is a girl,
Some morning you'll awake—
She's making music some place else,
—And your own may make.

—Philadelphia Ledger.
O when we hear the ghostly steps of death,
We wonder that in all the faded past
We could have dared to breathe one peaceful breath,
Knowing that this dark hour must come
at last.

When death is gone and on the wings of faith
The soul is flown into its larger career,
The wonder that the friendly hour of death
Could e'er have seemed us a single fear.
—J. W. Douglas, in N. Y. Observer.

A Time of Anxiety for Thousands

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Banish the Summer Blues and Other Distresses That Make Life Miserable
and Unhappy.

This is the season when we hear men and women complaining about their unhappy and half-dead condition. They find that physical and mental energy has deserted them, and they are sinking deeply in the pit of despondency.

The hot summer weather always produces thousands of miserable feeling mortals. They lack nerve force, strength and true vitality. They cannot rest a day or night, and life becomes a burden.

The great recuperator, builder and strengtheners for all weary, wornout and suffering people is Paine's Celery Compound, now so universally prescribed by medical men. When the great medicine is used at this season,
languor, despondency, irritability,
nervousness, sleeplessness, headache,
dyspepsia and digestive troubles are permanently banished, and men and women go about their duties and work with a vim, will, and energy that indicate health and physical strength.

Mr. J. H. Clark, Newark, Del., who was in a critical condition of health from troubles extremely common in summer time, writes thus about his marvelous rescue from death:

"When I was attacked with nervous prostration, I went to one of our local doctors. I continued to grow worse, and consulted other physicians,
but with very little apparent good.
No tongue can express or pen describe my feelings and suffering from this terrible disease. After spending considerable money in the vain hope of being cured, I was led to try Paine's Celery Compound and it is this medicine which enabled me to enjoy the health I now have. After the torture
I experienced night and day for years,
the change is wonderful."

SHE DID NOT RECLAIM THE COIN.

Though Given the Opportunity, Mrs.
Stanford Did Not Repent.

Those who "pass the plate" in country churches are not often regaled with the glitter of gold among the contributions. It is related that about ten years ago Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stanford were traveling through the middle west incognito. They happened to be in Bloomington, Ind., one Sunday, and pursuant to their usual custom went to church. They attended the Christian church of Bloomington, then largely in the hands of Amzi Atwater.

When the plate was passed for the collection Mrs. Stanford dropped in a $10 gold piece. Mr. Atwater was the deacon in charge of the collection-taking. It was noticed that the ushers held a hurried conference with him
when the money was taken forward.
At its conclusion Mr. Atwater said:
"Ladies and gentlemen, there has evidently been a mistake. Some one has dropped a $10 gold piece into the collection. If he will pass up after the services we will be glad to allow him to exchange it for the amount he intended to give." It is, of course, needless to say that Mrs. Stanford did not take advantage of the opportunity.

All He Was Enjoying.

A musician of Baltimore, who was very averse to attending social affairs of any kind, was persuaded by a friend to attend a concert one evening, where, unfortunately, the music was very poorly conducted. Late in the evening his friend found him in a corner, with a doleful look upon his face. "You don't seem to be enjoying yourself
this evening," said his friend. "On the contrary," he replied, "that is all I am enjoying."

Czar Shows Liberal Views.

M. Stakhovich, the marshal of the nobility for the province of Orel, whose speech in favor of freedom of conscience in Russia created such a sensation and who in spite of all opposition was re-elected for another term by an overwhelming majority, has now been confirmed in his post by the czar.

Healthy Old People

say the main thing to do is to keep the stomach, liver and bowels in order if you want to keep well and live long. Good physicians say the same thing, too. The remedy called

RIPANS TABULES

while not mysterious or miraculous in its curative qualities, is a simple formula prescribed by the best physicians for disorders of the digestive organs. Just little Tabules, easy to take, easy to buy and quick to act.
If your trouble is Dyspepsia, B'iousness, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Heartburn, and the like, no need of calling a physician. Ripans Tabules contain exactly what he would tell you to take.
Permanent cure follows a fair trial. No uncertainty about it.

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

There is scarcely any condition of ill health that is not benefited by the occasional use of a R. I. P. A. N. S. Tabule, and the price, ten for five cents, does not let them from any home or family say one in ensuring the that are really cured. A family bottle containing six tabules is sold for $1.00. For children the chocolate coated sort, 15 for 25 cents, are recommended. For sale by druggists.

The Cent to Work Overtime.

The possibility of one-cent telephone messages over short distances is now suggested. Wonderful, indeed, have been the reductions in cost of innumerable articles of daily use in recent years, and it may be that long before the present generation passes off the stage the fortunate American will rejoice over one-cent postage, one-cent telephone tolls, wireless telegraph dispatches for a penny apiece, two-cent fares on street cars and a general reduction of a cent a mile or even a great trunk line of rail.

THE GREAT K&A TRAIN ROBBERY.

PAUL LEICESTER FORD AUTHOR OF
THE HONORABLE PETER STIRLING, ETC.

COPYRIGHT, 1920, BY J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY

"I really didn't mean to hurt your feelings, Mr. Gordon," said Madge gently, and quite serious now. "I ought not to have tried to tease you."

"There!" I said, my irritation entirely gone. "I had no right to lose my temper, and I'm sorry I spoke so unkindly. The truth is, Miss Cullen, the girl I care for is in love with another man, and so I'm bitter and ill-natured in those days."

My companion stopped walking at the steps of 218 and said, "Has she told you so?"

"No," I answered. "But it's as plain as she's pretty."

Madge ran up the steps and opened the door of the car. As she turned to close it she looked down at me with the oddest of expressions and said:

"How dreadfully ugly she must be!"

CHAPTER X.

WAITING FOR HELP.

If ever a fellow was bewildered by a single speech, it was Richard Gordon. I walked up and down that platform till I was called to breakfast, trying to decide what Miss Cullen had expressed, only to succeed in reading 50 different meanings in her parting six words. I wanted to think that it was her way of suggesting that I deceived myself in thinking that there was anything between Lord Ralles and herself; but, though I wished to believe this, I had seen too much to the contrary to take stock in the idea. Yet I couldn't believe that Madge was a coquette. I became angry and hot with myself for even thinking it for a moment.

Puzzle as I did over the words, I managed to eat a good breakfast and then went into the Cullens' car and electrified the party by telling them of Camp's and Fred's dispatches and how I had come to overhear the former. Mr. Cullen and Albert couldn't say enough about my cleverness in what had really been pure luck and seemed to think I had sat up all night in order to hear that telegram. The person for whose opinion I cared the most, Miss Cullen, didn't say anything, but she gave me a look that set my heart beating like a trip hammer and made me put the most hopeful construction on that speech of hers. It seemed impossible that she didn't care for Lord Ralles and that she might care for me; but, after having had no hope whatsoever, the smallest crumb of a chance nearly lifted me off my feet.

We had a consultation over what was best to be done, but didn't reach any definite conclusion till the station agent brought me a telegram from the postmaster general. Breaking it open, I read aloud:

"Do not allow service of writ and retain possession of letters according to prior instructions. At the request of this department the secretary of war has directed the commanding officer at Fort Whipple to furnish you with military protection, and you will call upon him at once, if in your judgment it is necessary. On no account surrender United States property to territorial authorities. Keep department notified."

"Oh, splendid!" cried Madge, clapping her hands.

"Mr. Camp will find that other people can give surprise parties as well as himself," I said cheerfully.

"You'll telegraph at once?" asked Mr. Cullen.

"Instantly," I said, rising, and added, "Don't you want to see what I say, Miss Cullen?"

"Of course I do!" she cried, eagerly jumping up.

"Lord Ralles scowled as he said: 'Yes. Let's see what Mr. Superintendent has to say.'"

"You needn't trouble yourself," I said. "But he followed us into the station. I was disgusted, but at the same time it seemed to me that he had come because he was jealous, and that wasn't an unpleasant thought. Whatever his motive he was a third party in the writing of that telegram and had to stand by while Miss Cullen and I discussed, and drafted it. I didn't try to make it any too brief, not merely asking for a guard and when I might expect it, but giving as well a pretty full history of case, which was hardly necessary."

"You'll bankrupt yourself," laughed Madge. "You must let us pay."

"I'll let you pay, Miss Cullen, if you want," I said. "How much is it, Welpy?" I asked, shoving the blanks in to the operator.

"Nothing for a lady," said Welpy, grinning.

"There, Miss Cullen," I said. "Does the cost come up to that in gallantry?"

"Do you really mean that there is no charge?" demanded Madge incredulously, with her purse in her hand.

"That's the size of it," said the operator.

"I'm not going to believe that," cried Madge. "I know you are only de-

"How much is it, Welpy?" I asked, curving me, and I really want to pay."

I laughed and said, "Sometimes railroad superintendents can send messages free, Miss Cullen."

"How silly of me!" exclaimed Madge. Then she said: "How nice it is to be a railroad superintendent. Mr. Gordon! I should like to be one myself."

That speech really lifted me off my feet, but while I was thinking what response to make I came down to earth with a bounce.

"Since the telegram's done," said Lord Ralles to Miss Cullen in a cool, almost commanding tone, "suppose we take a walk."

"I don't think I care to this morning," answered Madge.

"I think you had better," said his lordship, with such a manner that I felt inclined to knock him down.

To my surprise Madge seemed to hesitate and finally said, "I'll walk up and down the platform if you wish."

Lord Ralles nodded, and they went out, leaving me in a state of mingled amazement and rage at the way he had cut me out. Try as I would I wasn't able to hit upon any theory that supplied a solution to the conduct of either Lord Ralles or Miss Cullen, unless they were engaged and Miss Cullen displeased him by her behavior to me. But Madge seemed such an honest, frank girl that I'd have believed anything sooner than that she was only playing with me.

If I was perplexed, I wasn't going to give Lord Ralles the right of way, and as soon as I had made certain that the telegram was safely started I joined the walkers. I don't think any of us enjoyed the hour that followed, but I didn't care how miserable I was myself so long as I was certain that I was blocking Lord Ralles, and his grumpiness showed very clearly that my presence did that. As for Madge, I couldn't make her out. I had always thought I understood women a little, but her conduct was beyond understanding.

Apparently Miss Cullen didn't altogether relish her position, for presently she said she was going to the car. "I'm sure you and Lord Ralles will be company enough for each other," she said, giving me a flash of her eyes which showed them full of suppressed merriment, even while her face was grave.

In spite of her prediction, the moment she was gone Lord Ralles and I pailed apart about as quickly as a yard engine can split a couple of cars.

I moped around for an hour, too unsettled mentally to do anything but smoke and only waiting for an invitation or for some excuse to go into 218. About 11 o'clock I obtained the latter in another telegram and went into the car at once.

Telegram received—I read triumphantly—A detail of two companies of the Twelfth Cavalry, under the command of Captain Sizer, is ordered to Ash Forks and will start within an hour, arriving at 5 o'clock.

C. D. OLMESTEAD, Adjutant.

"That won't do, Gordon," cried Mr. Cullen. "The mandamus will be here before that."

"Oh, don't say there is something more wrong!" sighed Madge.

"Won't it be safer to run while there is still time?" asked Albert anxiously.

"I was born lazy about running away," I said.

"Oh, but please, just for once," Madge begged. "We know already how brave you are."

I thought for a moment, not so much objecting, in truth, to the running away as to the running away from Madge.

"I'd do it for you," I said, looking at Miss Cullen so that she understood this time what I meant without using any emphasis, "but I don't see any need of making myself uncomfortable when I can make the other side so. Come along and see if my method isn't quite as good."

We went to the station, and I told the operator to call Rock Butte. Then I dictated:

Direct caduator of Phoenix No. 10 on its arrival at Rock Butte to hold it there till further orders.

RICHARD GORDON, Superintendent.

"That will save my running and their chasing," I laughed, "though I'm afraid a long wait at Rock Butte won't improve their tempers."

The next few hours were pretty exciting ones to all of us, as can well be imagined. Most of the time was spent. I have to confess, in maneuvers and struggles between Lord Ralles and myself as to which should monopolize Madge, without either of us succeeding. I was so engrossed with the contest that I forgot all about the passage of time, and only when the sheriff strolled up to the station did I realize that the climax was at hand. As a joke I introduced him to the Cullens, and we all stood chatting till far out on the hill to the south I saw a cloud of dust and quietly called Miss Cullen's attention to it. She and I went to 97 for my fieldglasses, and the moment Madge looked through them she cried:

"Yes, I can see horses, and, oh, there are the stars and stripes! I don't think I ever loved them so much before."

"I suppose we civilians will have to take a back seat now, Miss Cullen?" I said. And she answered me with a demure smile worth—well, I'm not going to put a value on that smile.

"They'll be here very quickly," she almost sang.

"You forget the clearness of the air," I said and then asked the sheriff how far away the dust cloud was.

"Yer mean that cattle drive?" he asked. "Bout ten miles."

"You seem to think of everything!" exclaimed Miss Cullen, as if my knowing that distances are deceptive in Arizona was wonderful. I sometimes think one gets the most praise in this world for what least deserves it.

I waited half an hour to be safe and then released No. 3 just as we were called to dinner, and this time I didn't refuse the invitation to eat mine in 218.

We didn't hurry over the meal, and toward the end I took to looking at my watch, wondering what could keep the cavalry from arriving.

"I hope there is no danger of the train arriving first, is there?" asked Madge.

"Not the slightest," I assured her. "The train won't be here for two hours, and the cavalry had only five miles to cover 40 minutes ago. I must say they seem to be taking their time."

"There they are now!" cried Albert. Listening, we heard the clatter of horses' feet going at a good pace, and we all rose and went to the windows to see the arrival. Our feelings can be judged when across the tracks came only a mob of 30 or 40 cowboys, riding in their usual "show off" style.

"The deuce!" I couldn't help exclaiming in my surprise. "Are you sure you saw a flag, Miss Cullen?"

"Why—I thought"—she faltered. "I saw something red, and—I supposed, of course."

Not waiting to let her finish, I exclaimed, "There's been a fluke somewhere, I'm afraid, but we are still in good shape, for the train can't possibly be here under an hour. I'll get my fieldglasses and have another look before I decide what!"

My speech was interrupted by the entrance of the sheriff and Mr. Camp.

CHAPTER XI.

THE LETTERS CHANGE HANDS AGAIN.

What seemed at the moment an incomprehensible puzzle had, as we afterward learned, a very simple explanation. One of the G. S. directors, Mr. Baldwin, who had come in on Mr. Camp's car, was the owner of a great cattle ranch near Rock Butte. When the train had been held at that station for a few minutes, Camp went to the conductor, demanded the cause for the delay and was shown my telegram. Seeing through the device, the party had at once gone to this ranch, where the owner, Baldwin, mounted them, and it was their dust cloud we had seen as they rode up to Ash Forks. To make matters more serious, Baldwin had rounded up his cowboys and brought them along with him in order to make any resistance impossible.

I made no objection to the sheriff serving the paper, though it nearly broke my heart to see Madge's face. To cheer her I said suggestively: "They've got me, but they haven't got the letters, Miss Cullen. And, remember, it's always darkest before the dawn, and the stars in their courses are against Caesar."

With the sheriff and Mr. Camp I then walked over to the saloon, where Judge Wilson was waiting to dispose of my case. Mr. Cullen and Albert tried to come, too, but all outsiders were excluded by order of the "court." I was told to show cause why I should not forthwith produce the letters, and answered that I asked an adjournment of the case so that I might be heard by counsel. It was denied, as was to have been expected. Indeed, why they took the trouble to go through the forms was beyond me. I told Wilson I should not produce the letters, and he asked if I knew what that meant. I couldn't help laughing and retorting:

"It very appropriately means 'contempt of the court,' your honor."

8 IS STILL DOUBTFUL

Jeannette Campbell of Paducah; Mrs. John M. McLean, Murray; Mrs. Herbert Carr, of Fulton; and Miss Hodge, of Texas, who is visiting Mrs. Campbell.

Conspicuous on the speaker's stand was a silver service to be presented to Congressman Charles K. Wheeler of the First district.

Hon. Ollie James, of Marion, Democratic nominee for congress from this district, was one of the guests of honor on the platform.

There were no police officers present to preserve order, but Sheriff Potter was on hand to see that things were done right. There was no disorder of any description.

Conspicuous among the managers was Colonel Edw. O. Leigh, who was ever ready to accommodate one and all in any way possible.

CALLED TO ORDER.

Chairman Ayers at 10:55 opened the convention, and Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, of the First Christian church pronounced invocation.

Chairman Ayers then called for Congressman C. K. Wheeler and nominee O. M. James to come to the platform. They responded amid cheers.

Mr. James then arose and addressed the convention, stating that the First congressional district had deputed him to present "not a smile from Prince Henry," but a token of its esteem to its congressman. He declared that Mr. Wheeler was one of the most brilliant intellects that ever represented Kentucky, and then formally presented a silver service, "silver—16 to 1," to Congressman Wheeler, a beautiful silver service, with the words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Congressman Wheeler responded, and said it had always been his ambition that he could serve his people that he could return and look every honest man in the face, and feel that he had done his duty. He spoke but a short time, and expressed the profoundest appreciation and gratitude for the tribute.

Chairman Ayers then called the convention to order and stated the object of the meeting. He said nominations were in order for temporary chairman.

Hon. Bill Howell, of Christian, nominated Malcolm C. Yeaman, of Henderson.

Hon. Tom Gardner of Carlisle, seconded and the nomination was made unanimous. This meant a combine of Robbins, Cook and Dorsey.

Judge Yeaman thanked the convention in a ten minutes' speech.

The selection of a secretary was entered into, and Mr. Felix Grasty, of Trigg, nominated Messrs. Remley of Fulton and Linn of Calloway, and Jake Corbett of Wickliffe offered the name of Mr. Linthicum of Ballard, and Judge J. T. Webb of Graves nominated Colonel J. R. Lemon, of Graves. They were all elected without dissent.

A resolution was then presented by Mr. Felix Grasty, of Trigg, moving that committees be appointed on recommendation of the instructed delegates.

Mr. Gordon, of Hopkins, amended by asking that the candidates suggest through their friends the committees-men.

Major Moss of McCracken, introduced an amendment in regard to the committee on credentials.

Judge W. A. Berry of the Robbins delegation, arose to a point of order, claiming that Major Moss of the White delegation, was not a delegate. After a brief discussion, the chairman declined to recognize Major Moss. A call of the counties prompted the chairman to decide the motion relative to each candidate selecting one member of the committees carried, all the counties voting aye except Ballard, Carlisle and Hickman, 185 to 26.

The friends of the various candidates then made the following appointments:

Cook's committeemen—On credentials: J. T. Hanberry, Christian.

Resolutions: Henry R. Lawrence, Trigg.

Permanent organization: Charles J. Jetton, of Calloway.

Nunn's committeemen—Credentials: Charles Grassham, Livingston. Organization: John R. Wiley, Christian county.

Resolution: O. M. James, Crittenden.

White's committeemen—Credentials: S. T. Gardner, Carlisle.

Organization: Dr. Charles Hinkle, Ballard.

Resolutions: Robert Smith, Hickman.

Robbin's committeemen—Resolutions: Charles K. Wheeler, McCracken.

Credentials: Charles G. Alexander, Fulton.

Permanent organization: John G. Lovett, Marshall.

Judge Dorsey's friends offered no names, and it was moved that the chair appoint the other member of each committee.

A point of order was raised, it being claimed that the amendment to the resolutions was that each candidate offer one man on each committee, and as only four candidates had showed up, the committees were full.

Mr. Grasty, of Trigg, moved to adjourn until 2 o'clock, which raised a storm of protest. It was suggested that the chairman first make his appointments. The call of the counties resulted in the motion to adjourn being lost by a vote of 119 to 92, Lyon deserting Cook.

The chairman then appointed on the three committees: Marion Baker, Webster; Peter Manion, Henderson, and Felix Grasty, of Trigg.

It was then moved to adjourn until 3 o'clock, and the motion carried.

PROMINENT POLITICIANS.

There is a large number of politicians here attending the convention. Among them are: H. V. McChesney of Livingston county, superintendent of public instruction, candidate for secretary of state; Judge D. E. Dempsey of Hopkins, railroad commissioner from this district and who is a candidate for re-election; W. C. Bell, of Christian county, and E. B. Samuels of Hickman county, declared candidates for the railroad commissioner-ship; W. W. Martin of Lyon county who may enter the same race; John K. Hendrick of Livingston, candidate for governor; Josh T. Griffith of Owensboro, for treasurer; Gus W. Richardson of Meade county, for treasurer; John B. Chenault of Madison county, for auditor; S. W. Hagar, the present treasurer, for auditor; R. L. Greene of Bracken county, who has been the chief clerk of the court of appeals for 16 years and who now aspires to be the clerk of the court; J. J. Watkins, a state senator of Union county, who aspires to be superintendent of public instruction; Harry G. Tandy of Paducah, assistant secretary of state, for secretaryship; W. P. Thorne, of Henry county, who is after the lieutenant governorship; Conn Linn of Calloway, who wants to be commonwealth's attorney from the district composed of Calloway, Lyon, Christian and Trigg, and Sam Molloy of Lyon county, who wants the same attorneyship; John G. Lovett, of Marshall county, who is a candidate for the commonwealth attorneyship from Marshall and McCracken counties; John Gray of Livingston county, who wants to be re-elected as commonwealth attorney from the counties of Livingston, Crittenden, Caldwell and Hopkins. W. I. Clark, of Livingston county, who is a strong candidate for the place of circuit judge vice Judge Nunn if he is the nominee of today's convention; James B. Garrett, of Trigg county, who will likely be a candidate for attorney general; Hon. Ollie M. James, of Marion, the nominee for congress from this district.

THE PRESS.

A large number of newspaper men are here today. Among them are J. D. Wakefield staff correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal; C. M. Meacham of the Hopkinsville Kentuckian; Col. Mott Ayers of the Fulton Leader; Harvey Jones, Benton Democrat; Frank Chambers, Benton Tribune; E. B. Walker, Clinton Democrat; Rid Reed, Smithland Banner; W. O. Wear, MurrayTimes; W. W. Martin, Eddyville Tale of Two Cities; Thomas C. Pettit, Barwell News.

NOTES.

The crowd was not searched for guns.

A number of Republicans were among the lookers on.

Liquid refreshments were conspicuous for their absence this morning.

The state administration seems to have moved to Paducah temporarily.

They managed to pull off the convention without General Percy Haley.

Chairman Mott Ayers is one of the most popular members of the delegation.

The indications are that a large number of ladies will attend this afternoon.

A Graves county man startled all within range of his voice this morning by asking for a drink of water.

The McCracken crowd all got seats among the delegates, both the regular and the contesting delegations.

A great many of the delegates were never in Paducah before, and they are all well pleased with the place.

One delegate jocularly declared that the convention was held outside the city limits so there would be no police present.

Judge Malcolm Yeaman, temporary chairman, is a gentleman and a scholar, and has made friends with every one. He presides with fairness and dignity.

Messrs. Jack Young and wife and Mr. J. G. Willis of Metropolis were in the city last night. The gentlemen came up to attend a K. of P. initiation.
